Dear [Redacted]

I appreciated the demonstration that you and your associates presented to the Illinois Department of Public Aid on June 19, and I am sorry that I could not spend longer with you. The demonstrated system was most interesting and my staff is evaluating its potential use by our department. It is my present feeling, however, that we should wait until the department has completed its implementation of the identification card system in Cook and eleven other counties before a decision is made to embark on a banking program such as the one presented by Computer Specifics.

I do, however, appreciate the time and effort that you and your associates made in coming to Illinois, and look forward to discussing the merits of your firm's system at a later date.

Sincerely,

On June 22, 1972, [redacted] was advised that he would receive a letter from the Department of Public Aid, and, in fact, [redacted] did receive a letter bearing the date of June 22, 1972, from [redacted] Public Aid for the State of Illinois (letter enclosed).

[redacted] requested that [redacted] give a copy of the letter to him to forward to [redacted] office so that he may then discuss same with Mr. HENRY HYDE.

[redacted] advised him on July 11, 1972, that he had discussed the program with Mr. HYDE by telephone. [redacted] relates the conversation thusly, "Mr. HYDE advised [redacted] to let the State of Illinois complete their card identification system and he would then see that [redacted] program would be implemented."

At this time the card system is contemplated to be finished on or about December of 1972. [redacted] asked that [redacted] standby till that time and a new date would be set for [redacted] to go to Springfield. [redacted] spoke to [redacted] on Monday, November 6, 1972, and was told that he had a meeting with HYDE in regards to the December date - and would be kept posted.

HYDE and his man in Springfield will only accept cash payments for their fees which, if the program is accepted by Illinois, would be a continuing arrangement as long as Illinois retained the program.

On October 24, 1973, the Springfield Office provided the following:

HENRY HYDE is a current Illinois State Legislator from Park Ridge, Illinois, which is a western suburb of Chicago. He is currently serving his fourth term. During the early 1970s, during the regime of Governor RICHARD B. OGILVIE, HYDE served as majority leader of the Illinois House of Representatives. However, in the election of 1972, Governor OGILVIE and many Republican legislators were defeated in Illinois, and HYDE subsequently lost his post as majority leader, but remained as a legislator. On October 14, 1973, HYDE announced his candidacy for the position of chairman of the Cook County Board, another highly influential position, it being frequently referred to unofficially as the "Mayor of Cook County" (suburbs of Chicago).

[REDACTED] thereafter contacted one [REDACTED] of [REDACTED] Chicago, Illinois, who in turn advised he would contact Henry Hyde, a State of Illinois Representative from the Chicago area who claimed to be close to the "Governor's man" in Springfield, Illinois. Subsequent events disclosed that [REDACTED] advised [REDACTED] that an additional 20 percent would have to be added to any price given to the State of Illinois to cover cash payments of ten percent to the "Governor's man" (never identified), ten percent to Hyde and that [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] would receive compensation out of [REDACTED] end of the contract. [REDACTED] reportedly made the deal with Hyde and in June, 1972, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] demonstrated their program to Illinois officials; however, the contract was to be delayed for a six-month period.

From Our Springfield Bureau

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Welfare recipients in Cook and eight other urban Illinois counties will be offered photographic identification cards in an effort to halt the theft and fraudulent cashing of welfare checks.

State officials say 2,000 checks, worth an average of $125 apiece, are stolen monthly in Cook County alone, representing an annual loss of millions of dollars to the banks, currency exchanges and supermarkets that cash them.

The identification cards, which will bear a recipient's picture, signature and case number, will cost the state 55 cents apiece, according to Donald Coates, assistant to the deputy director of management services of the state department of public aid.

COATES told the Legislative Advisory Committee on Public Assistance Tuesday that cards will be issued to 309,660 recipients, including 200,000 in Cook County, by Sept. 30. The first cards will be issued in Cook County in two or three weeks, he said.

He said the cards should save Chicago recipients $2 million a year, because currency exchanges will lower their check-cashing fees after the cards are issued. The currency exchanges charge about 50 cents a check, he said, and probably will be willing to reduce the fee to 25 cents after cards are issued.

Both, as [redacted]
[redacted] Governor OLGIVIE, he had repeated frequent daily contacts with then state senator HENRY J. HYDE, who was Republican majority leader, when the legislature was in session.

He had such contact with HYDE during the spring of 1972.

With regard to CSC of New York, New York, he has no recollection of ever having heard of the firm before recently being contacted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). He has never personally and knowingly, had any contact with representatives of that firm.

He may have received a letter dated March 30, 1972 from CSC signed by [redacted] but he does not recall having done so.

He does not recall whether HENRY HYDE ever spoke to, or contacted him relative to CSC.

It is possible, however, that either HYDE, or someone else, did contact him on behalf of CSC, because he does recall learning that the Illinois Department of Public Aid had some sort of pilot program in Sangamon County, Illinois, which involved identification cards or procedures for welfare recipients, which would assist them in cashing their welfare checks. He does not know for sure how, or

If HENRY J. HYDE had asked him to contact [redacted] on behalf of CSC, he would have done so willingly, and would have considered the request neither improper, nor illegal. Part of his function [redacted] Governor OLGIVIE was to facilitate contacts between state agencies and legitimate firms wishing to do business with the state.

He was never offered any financial or material consideration of any kind by anyone on behalf of CSC in this matter. He would certainly remember the fact of such an offer; but up until the current inquiry by the FBI, he cannot ever recall of having ever heard of the firm.
